- The leg must remain completely straight, with the brace locked with the knee in the straight position, and the foot should be in a level position with the floor.

Wound Care and Dressing Change:

- You will typically have a large tan/brown colored ACE type of wrap around the leg from the foot to the thigh. In some cases you may have a stocking instead. There will be a brace on your leg.

- This can be removed 3 days after surgery.
- In order to get the dressings off, you will have to remove the brace.
- TO REMOVE THE BRACE:
  - Keep knee straight and the extremity flat on the table or floor.
  - Simply unclick the buckles along the front of the brace. There are usually 4 total. See the image above.
  - Open the brace up.
  - You can then slide / push the brace out from under the leg while keeping the knee completely straight and without lifting off the surface.

- Another option to remove the brace is to have someone lift the leg by the foot to keep the knee completely straight. YOU MUST NOT MAKE ANY ATTEMPT TO HELP THE ASSISTANT. Your quadriceps muscle (large muscle on front of thigh) must be completely relaxed. You can look and feel the muscle to check this.
  - Move the leg to a sturdy surface and prop it up by the lower half of the leg/ankle/foot so that the knee is kept completely straight.
  - Leave enough room to remove the brace and unwrap and change dressings.
- TO UNWRAP DRESSINGS:
  - Note that any lifting of the leg off the table or other surface will activate your quadriceps muscle which will in turn stress the repair of the quadriceps or patella tendon
  - You can either cut the dressings off by running sissors directly down the front of the leg, or you can take them off by pushing them underneath the extremity as you unwrap them.

- Underneath will typically be some padding material and underneath that material will be gauze like material.

- - Underneath the gauze will be either small tape like dressings called Steri-strips or you will see the incision and any sutures / skin clips themselves.

- - There may be thin, yellow gauze directly on the surgery incision.

- Incisions are typically closed with metal skin clips, non-absorbable (non-dissolving sutures), or absorbable (dissolving) sutures.
- The first time you remove the dressings, the Steri-strips or the yellow gauze may be stuck to the skin and do not peel off easily. These can be left in place. They will eventually fall off. Change your dressing once a day with 4 inch by 4 inch gauze and re-wrap the ACE bandage or reapply the stocking over the gauze.
- TO REPLACE DRESSINGS:
  - Keep your extremity flat and straight on the floor or table.
  - Place the new gauze on top of the incision.
  - Pull the stocking up the leg and over the gauze while keeping the extremity still and completely straight. This is to avoid activating and tensioning the tendon that was repaired during surgery. You may also use an ACE bandage and wrap around leg in a reverse manner from when you removed it the first time.

- You will click the switch to unlock when you have been cleared to start knee motion.

- You may stop the dressing changes once the gauze has no spotting or drainage on it for a 24-hour period. You may remove the Steri-strips or the yellow gauze at this time.

Showering:

- You may take your first shower once the wounds have been completely dry for a 24-hour period.
- You may let the water run over the incision. Be sure to dry thoroughly by lightly pressing with a clean cotton towel. DO NOT RUB the incision to dry it.
- Use of a shower chair is recommended after this surgery to you can sit comfortably and prop foot on floor to keep your knee completely straight.
  - Sit towards front edge of chair so that you whole leg and knee can remain straight.
- Only start showers once your dressings have been dry for a 24-hour period. Do NOT soak in the bath until cleared by physician.
